ELECT BOTTGER AS COMMANDER OF THE LEGION

Joplin Chosen at Cape
Girardeau For 1939
Convention

THOUSANDS VIEW PARADE SUNDAY

United States Senators
Clark and Truman
at Closing Sessions

By The Associated Press.
CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., Sept. 6.—Fred A. Bottger of St. Louis was elected state commander of the American Legion at the Missouri department's twentieth annual convention today.

Before the official count of votes was announced, Lue C. Lozier of Jefferson City, his opponent, rose and moved that the convention unanimously name Bottger. The motion was adopted.

The official tabulation of votes was 412½, Lozier 371½.

Convention to Joplin
CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., Sept. 6.—Missouri's Legionnaires chose Joplin for the 1939 convention today, then went into session to select a commander.

The race for commander remained close, followers of Fred A. Bottger of St. Louis and Lue C. Lozier of Jefferson City both predicting victory.

Workers for the two candidates were busy button holding delegates during this morning's business session of the twentieth annual meeting of the Missouri department.

The resolutions committee hoped to make its report early this afternoon.

The committee, composed of one representative from each of the 17 districts, was in session yesterday from 3 p. m. to 11 p. m. and resumed its deliberations this morning.

Adrain L. Bushman, St. Louis county lawyer, was elected chairman of the resolutions committee.

What stand the body would take on a proposal to pay compensation to men who served in the war-time student army training corps was a matter of speculation.

The issue arose only recently after an attorney general's opinion that the men are eligible for the bonus. Previously, the state legislature had ruled they were ineligible.

Carry On Hot Scrap

A threatened deadlock loomed over the state commander race, with the Bottger and Lozier forces carrying on a hot scrap.

The other major race is for national committeeman between Lowell R. Johnson of Kansas City and Charles (farmer) Brown of Springfield.

Support already pledged the two candidates showed them to be less than 20 votes apart. Jackson county's big bloc of 115 votes was pledged solidly to Johnson.

United States Senator Bennett Champ Clark and Harry S. Truman were here to take part in the closing sessions.

Gov. Lloyd C. Stark was unable to attend.

A crowd estimated at between 30,000 and 40,000 jammed Cape Girardeau's streets yesterday to watch the legion on parade. More than 2,000 legionnaires, auxiliary members and their sons and daughters took part in the two-hour spectacle.

Music from 22 drum and bugle corps and a half dozen bands enlivened the marchers over the three-mile route.

In Sunday's class a drum and bugle corps contest, the 42-piece Cape Girardeau unit, defending champion, placed first with 94.5 points. Jefferson City, with 93.6 points, was second.

Sedalia extended an invitation for the 1939 convention.

REMAINING ASSETS OF BANKS IN LIQUIDATION SOLD

A public sale of the remaining assets of the Sedalia Trust Company and the LaMonte bank, was held in front of the court house this morning, at which time all old notes were disposed of.

Bothwell Hospital Notes

Emma Jean Duffer, of Dresden, had her tonsils taken out.

James Alfred Vaughn, of Kansas City, who suffered minor injuries in an automobile accident east of Ottaville, received emergency treatment and continued on to his home in Kansas City.

Joseph Fulk, 719 East Fifteenth street, was admitted for surgery.

George Hillgoss, 403 East Sixth street, was admitted for medical treatment.

QUESTION TWO IN MEEKS KIDNAPING

MARYSVILLE, Calif., Sept. 6.—Police Chief F. W. Zunker at Merced said today he had detained two men for questioning about the kidnaping of Mrs. William R. Meeks, but police indicated they did not believe the men were involved.

Zunker said the men were driving an automobile without license plates, and neither had a driver's license. He said they told of having been in northern California seeking work in the peach orchards, and one was wearing shoes as described in the Meeks case.

The kidnapers threatened Mrs. Meek's life during a 56-hour period, but were afraid to collect the $15,000 ransom they demanded.

After interviewing two other men, investigators exonerated them of any connection with the abduction.

TRIBUTES FROM RICH AND POOR TO CARDINAL HAYES

Persons From All The Walks of Life Pay
Their Respects

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Persons from all walks of life and of all religious beliefs today paid respect to the late Patrick Cardinal Hayes, whose body lay in state at the Cardinalate in the rear of St. Patrick's cathedral.

The doors of the residence were thrown open and with picked city police standing at attention at each corner of the catafalque, mourners began a steady march, stopping briefly at the coffin to make the sign of the cross, or in other ways to denote their respect for the "cardinal of charity" who died Sunday at his summer home near Monticello.

In the first group admitted were detectives and policemen who for the next three days will be constantly on duty at the residence and cathedral.

Mourners, many of whom had waited on Madison avenue for several hours, were admitted next.

Further expressions of respect from prominent religious leaders and laymen continued to be received at the diocesan office.

Stop Trial for Eulogy

As the trial of James J. Rines, Tammany district leader, entered its fourth week in a downtown courtroom, Lloyd Paul Stryker, of the counsel for Rines, stopped to eulogize the prelate.

"His loss is not only a great loss for the church," Stryker said, "but to everyone in the community. I feel it a duty to request this court to place in the record a minute of the great services of this man."

District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey also spoke of the cardinal's passing. "No man who has lived in New York had a greater influence on the charitable thought of this city," the prosecutor said.

Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora, directing the trial, added his tribute, saying: "His eminence Patrick Cardinal Hayes had a charm which attracted all; his dignity was always graceful; his zeal knew no bounds; his love of country always exemplified patriotism of the highest. The nation has lost a great citizen."

Dies in Sleep

ST. JOSEPH, N. Y., Sept. 6.—Patrick Joseph Cardinal Hayes of New York City, distinguished prelate and head of the richest Catholic diocese in the world, died in his sleep early Sunday at his summer camp near here.

The cardinal, for forty years a vacationist at the camp conducted by the Dominican Sisters, was found dead in bed by his secretary, Monsignor John J. Casey, who had gone to awaken him.

ACCIDENT FATAL TO SON OF ONCE KING OF SPAIN

Count of Cavadonga
Dies After Accident
at Miami, Fla.

CIGARETTE GIRL AS COMPANION

Auto Hits Pole as Girl
Driving Lost Control
Dodging Truck

By The Associated Press.
MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 6.—The Count of Cavadonga, 31, eldest son of former King Alfonso of Spain, bled to death today from cuts about the head suffered in an automobile accident.

The injuries in themselves were not severe but the count's condition was complicated by hemophilia, the hereditary disease of the Battenberg's which causes excessive bleeding and prevents the blood from coagulating normally.

The former heir to the throne of Spain died in a hospital about nine hours after the accident, in which his companion and driver of the car was a night club cigarette girl, Miss Mildred Gaydon, 25. They had been friendly for some time.

Girl Is Questioned

Miss Gaydon suffered slight chest injuries. She was questioned by police and then released. She related she and the titled Spaniard were driving along Biscayne boulevard about 3 a. m. when she swerved to avoid a truck, lost control and hit a pole.

Dr. C. P. Lamar, who attended the count, ascribed his death to traumatic shock. The flow of blood had been checked shortly before the victim died but he had been placed in an oxygen tent and given slight chance for recovery.

Jack Fleming, the count's secretary who remained at the bedside, cabled King Alfonso in Rome and Queen Victoria, the count's mother, in London. Funeral arrangements were not made immediately but Fleming said the body might be taken to Spain for burial.

Cavadonga, the former prince of the Asturias, had made his home in a Miami hotel since last fall, when he and Marta Rocafort, his second Cuban companion, wife, split up a few weeks after their marriage.

Equalization Board Meets

The Board of Equalization for merchants tax is meeting in the county court room today. Members of the board are the county court, mayor, city and county assessor and highway engineer.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY THE MINISTERS

Rev. E. L. Baker, pastor of the Federated church, was re-elected president of the Sedalia Ministerial Alliance at a meeting held this morning. Rev. J. C. English, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, was re-elected vice-president and Rev. R. A. Park, rector of Calvary Episcopal church re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The ministers discussed, and made plans, for "Church Emphasis Week," from September 18 to 25, during which week the larger number of services will be in the service building of the Broadway Presbyterian church. There are two Sundays included in the week, and on these the ministers of the respective churches will have services that will fit in with the program. During the week days there will be afternoon and night services daily at the Broadway service building, and some moving pictures will be shown to depict the different kinds of church work. The theme will be "American Cities and Their Churches."

Rev. R. A. Waggoner, pastor of the Broadway Presbyterian church is chairman of a committee to arrange for the observance of this week.

Reports were made on the summer union meetings and the Hall of Religion at the State Fair. It was planned to endeavor to interest ministers from other Missouri cities in the Hall of Religion next year, making it rather a state affair, than a local affair.

PRIMARY IS ON IN NEVADA TODAY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Nevada voters selected nominees for congress and governor today in primaries, claiming national interest chiefly because of Senator Pat McCarran's attempt to win renomination.

McCarran, who broke with President Roosevelt on the administration's supreme court and reorganization bills, was opposed by Albert Hilliard and Dr. John Worden, both claiming to be pro-administration.

While the nation's political observers awaited Nevada's verdict, they kept an eye also on the Maine elections to be held Monday.

Maine was one of the two states which went Republican in the 1936 presidential election and James A. Farley, Democratic national chairman, urged its voters last week to "get in step with the rest of the country."

ROSCOE TURNER TAKES TROPHY IN THE AIR RACES

Breeze Around Ten-Mile
Course at 284.419
Miles Hour

By The Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, Sept. 6.—A big guy with a wide, toothy grin captured the world's choicest aviation trophy for the United States at a speed which those foolish visionaries used to write about in the days of the one Ross shay.

Snugly seated in a silver-hued racing plane, Roscoe Turner of Chicago breezed around a ten-mile course for 63½ minutes yesterday to jack up to 284.419 miles an hour the pace for the 300-mile Thompson trophy race.

In annexing the final event of the three-day National Air Races, Turner exceeded by 19 miles an hour the pace set by Michael Detroit, of France, in the same race at Los Angeles in 1936.

So Turner had double satisfaction. He halloped one of Europe's speed aces and he won the Thompson race for the second time to become the only man who ever accomplished the feat.

As an overtone of the squabble among eight entries for $45,000 worth of prize money, Turner and Earl Ortmann of San Diego fought a private duel for the lead almost the entire distance.

Toward the close Ortmann's oil pressure began ebbing. With his control stick in his stomach, he pulled high, ready to abandon ship. His windshield was sprayed with oil.

He flashed over the line in second place, wheeled about, cut his ignition switch and shot blindly, guided entirely by radioed instructions.

Ortmann drifted in over a canvas fence at the south end of the airport with only feet to spare and landed his fleet racer with his motor frozen and his propeller idle.

Third place went to Steve Wittman, Oshkosh, Wis.; fourth to Leigh Wade of New York and Buenos Aires; fifth to Joseph Mackey, Findlay, O.; and sixth to Joe Jacobson, Kansas City. The other two entrants, Harry Crosby and Arthur C. Chester, both of Los Angeles, dropped out.

SCHOOLS OPEN IN SEDALIA FOR THE TERM OF 1938-'39

Actual Study And Class
Periods To Begin
Wednesday

TOTAL ENROLLED FIRST DAY 3801

Gain of 42 Students in The Smith-Cotton
High School

Their vacation over, the boys and girls of Sedalia, of school age, took their places in the class rooms this morning, received assignment, and made preparations to begin actual work Wednesday morning.

There were 3801 pupils enrolled. Of that number 3492 are in the public schools, one hundred at St. Patrick's parochial school, 160 at Sacred Heart school, and 49 at the new St. Joseph's school for Negro children.

There are ninety-two fewer pupils in the public schools than were enrolled on the opening day last year, a gain of forty-two in Smith-Cotton high school, a gain of five in Lincoln, and a shortage of 139 in the elementary public schools.

Books are furnished by the board of education for pupils in the first eight grades, but additional supplies must be furnished by the children themselves.

Schedules at High School
At high school the students found the corridor walls and class room walls had been painted during the summer, and the floors in all the rooms and halls had been waxed and polished. In some rooms there were new desks and chairs.

The home room period this morning lasted twenty-five minutes. At this time the students received their schedules for the coming year and filled out registration cards.

Locker assignments at Smith-Cotton will be made Thursday. The students, will have, by that time, acquainted themselves with the various members of their homerooms and have selected the student with whom they want to share lockers.

PRONOUNCE ADAM RICHETTI AS SANE

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 6.—Adam Richetti, condemned to die Oct. 7 in the state's gas chamber as one of the gunmen in the 1933 Union Station massacre here, was pronounced sane today by three psychiatrists.

Their report to Circuit Judge Ray G. Cowan was based on an examination made before Richetti was taken to Jefferson City last week to a death cell.

APPEAL FROM PRESIDENT MADE TO NAME LEWIS

Senator Tydings Target of Several Shafts By Roosevelt

STRESSES NATIONAL UNITY IN SPEECH

In a Sense Address Labor Day Pleased Both Factions

DENTON, Md., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Now that President Roosevelt has come and gone, the Tydings-Lewis campaign on Maryland's eastern shore is reverting to cracker-box discussions.

At the wayside filling stations, which have supplanted crossroads stores as community centers, the farmers and oystermen can debate until the primaries next Monday the president's appeal for democrats to nominate Rep. David J. Lewis to the seat of Senator Millard E. Tydings. In the meantime, lieutenants of both men are busy following up Mr. Roosevelt's Labor day speech.

In a sense, the address pleased both factions. The Lewis followers were gratified by the president's praise of their champion "a man who not only has seen visions but has lived to make his dreams come true."

Lewis managers after a quick survey contended the speech had gained them grounds. They challenged openly the opposition claim that the entire shore would go for Tydings.

In the Tydings camp, there was surprise and frank jubilation that Mr. Roosevelt did not denounce the senator by name. To be sure, he made unmistakable references about men pretending to be either liberals or conservatives and acting like the other.

But the Tydings people termed the speech mild compared with Mr. Roosevelt's outright denunciation in Georgia of Senator Walter F. George, another "conservative" Democrat.

Change of Tactics
This change in tactics disappointed some of Lewis' followers. Others, however, called it good politics.

At one point Mr. Roosevelt joined the issue squarely with the Tydings forces. Ever since he first lauded Lewis a few weeks ago, they have criticized presidential intervention in a Democratic primary. When the president decided to visit Maryland, they shouted "keep the free state free!"

Mr. Roosevelt, on the other hand, made more than one mention of national unity and of the fact that:

"In the free state of Maryland—happily a part of the union—the flag, the constitution and the president are still as welcome as in all of the other 47 states of the union."

Not once did the president utter Tydings' name yesterday, but his hearers could not fail to identify the senator as the target of several verbal shafts. Progress, he said at one point, "comes from the rank and file of our citizens, and through the representatives of their free choice—representatives willing to cooperate, to get things done in the true spirit of 'give and take'—not representatives who seek every plausible excuse for blocking action."

Earlier in the speech he had referred to liberals and conservatives and added: "Any man—any political party—has the right to be honestly one or the other. But the nation can not stand for the confusion of having him pretend to be one and act like the other."

In mentioning Lewis, Mr. Roosevelt first sketched the congressman's career in the Maryland and national legislatures, referring to him only as "a fledgling member of Maryland's legislature" whose efforts had led to the enactment of the first workmen's compensation measure in any state.

That same individual, he went on, later was a pioneer in the cause of social security and parcel post legislation in congress.

$13,500,000,000 OF YOUR MONEY

It is estimated that government—federal, state and national—will levy taxes to the tune of $13,500,000,000 this year. Just one-ninth of that sum will be raised through income taxes. The gigantic balance will be raised through indirect taxes which represent part of the cost of a pair of shoes, a ticket to a show, rent, groceries and every other necessity and luxury of life.

The great bulk of indirect taxes are paid by persons of small and moderate means. A man with a thousand dollars a year eats as much as a man with fifty thousand. And the hidden tax burden is obviously of infinitely greater importance to him.

Here is the answer to those who think the tax problem is a wealthy man's problem, which doesn't touch the poor. There isn't a man, woman or child in this country who doesn't pay taxes—and heavy taxes, to boot. And the worst sufferer from extravagant government is that ordinary citizen who thinks he is tax-free because he pays no direct levies.

UNEARTHLY REALM

Tibet, possibly the remotest and least real land on the face of the earth for most citizens of this hemisphere, turns up in the news again. The Jaltab, virtual ruler of that land, has died.

Those westerners who have conceived any definite notion about Tibet have probably formed it largely from stories concerning the search for a successor to the late Dalai Lama, or from James Hilton's "Lost Horizon."

Tibet, it would seem, is a land populated almost exclusively by monks who spend their lives contemplating the infinite from the tops of mountains. From time to time, they take a sock at a brass gong, and now and then they go in for training pigeons to fly with bells attached to their legs. The few laymen in the country are a simple, contented lot who sit around and wait for the Dalai Lama's reincarnation.

But the picture changes as news of the Jaltab's death arrives. It seems there's a terrible squabble going on for domination of the country. The landed gentry, the young Tibetan party, the heads of three monasteries, and the army bunch are brawling like opposing factions in a precinct committee.

"Fled is that music:—Do I wake or sleep?"

FLASH ON PAJAMAS

It's a little hard to figure out why one of the greatest newspapers in the world recently emphasized what it did in a story reporting that Sir Ian Hamilton had just become the first foreigner to stay overnight at Hitler's mountain chalet.

"Hitler Provides Pajamas for an Unexpected Guest," ran the headline, and the story further disclosed that the host had even gone to the extent of providing a toothbrush also. Maybe the point is that most foreign guests must be satisfied with a military welcome, a tour of the parade grounds, a martial send-off before bedtime, and what sleep they may be able to get after that some place else.

But anybody who did spend the night would certainly expect pajamas and a toothbrush at the very least, and perhaps even a bedside copy of "Mein Kampf," a watchdog and a rear-view mirror.

And, incidentally, whatever became of that week-end invitation to King Victor Emmanuel III that was supposed to develop after Hitler's visit to Rome a few months ago? It never developed. But, then, of course, Victor Emmanuel is only a king.

YOUR FIRE BILL

You, the reader of this article, possess the key to fire prevention. You possess the power to help reduce the nation's fire loss, which now totals about a quarter of a billion annually, to an insignificant sum. And you can help save the ten thousand persons who now die horribly each year from fire.

By the same token, it is you who must pay the bill for our collective national carelessness with fire and its hazards. And it is you who suffer when fire strikes.

Many of us mistakenly think that fire prevention involves the purchase of expensive and complicated equipment, plus an involved system of inspections by high-priced experts. That is true only in a minority of cases. A very large proportion of all fires occur in homes and on farms—and in these cases adequate fire prevention usually requires little expenditure of either time or money. Improperly stored inflammable liquids, uncared-for heating plants, amateur electric work, accumulated debris of various kinds in attics, basements, closets and out-buildings—these are major sources of fire. And these grave hazards can be done away with quickly and for little or nothing.

Next time you read of a fire, large or small, think of its cost as being partially paid by you. You pay it in decreased purchasing power, in community retrogression, in lost jobs, in higher insurance rates. Think of the thousands of such fires that constitute America's gigantic and inexcusable total waste. Then answer this question: "Is the little effort that would make my property safe, worth while?"

HEART-TO-HEART

Sept. 18 is the date on which Los Angeles will greet the vanguard of the American Legion convention, and it's going to be here before you know it.

Now, fellows—There's no reason why everything shouldn't go smooth as silk. A little thought beforehand will do wonders. Get plenty of sleep and fresh air and exercise in the few days remaining. And it would not hurt to practice strolling with a cane.

And consider: It may be hot in Los Angeles, and in that case the street car tracks will be like the top of a stove. Take a pillow along and save your pants.

Remember that you're going to meet a lot of movie stars, and some of them have a certain amount of that artistic temperament and there's no telling what the application of a hand-buzzer might get you into.

Remember, too—you must remember—that the roofs of those 40-8 box cars cannot be danced on with any safety, and the bell on the engine will not ring if you sit on it. The only practical way to carry a bass drum, a slip horn and a folding chair through a crowd is to avoid the crowd.

And when the battle fleet goes through its demonstration for you in the harbor, be kind enough to let it go ahead without interruption or embarrassment of any kind.

• SO THEY SAY

Republican Spain is being given the loudest deal in the past 200 years.—Theodore Dreiser, American novelist.

WASHINGTON — What took place between the President and Jim Farley at their extended Hyde Park conference is still a closely guarded secret, but privately Jim is making no bones about his strong disapproval of some of the President's political moves and crusading advisers.

Jim also is telling friends that he is again thinking of quitting the Cabinet, but that he intends to hold on to the National Chairmanship come what may. This is the way Jim talks:

"Certain parties are complaining that I am not doing what I should be doing in all this purging. Well, all I've got to say to them is that next winter when votes are needed up on Capitol Hill, I'll be the one who will be able to do business for the Administration. It's all right to talk purge now, but when Congress is in session it will be a different story.

"And some of these fellows who are giving the President all this militant advice will be lucky if they even get tickets to get in to the 1940 convention. That convention will be run by the Democratic National Committee, and I'll run the Committee. I may give up the Postmaster Generalship next February, but I'm not giving up the National Chairmanship and nobody can make me do so."

Jim also relates that he and Roosevelt have discussed 1940 presidential aspirants, but that none of the hopefuls they considered "have a chance."

"Did he ever talk to you about his running again?" one friend inquired.

"Never."

"And what about yourself?"

Jim shook his head and laughed. "I've never discussed the matter with him."

Note—The President disagrees emphatically with Jim Farley on the effect of the "purge" will have on members of Congress. He believes that if he continues to remain silent while alleged Democrats on Capitol Hill oppose and sabotage him, then their opposition will increase. If, on the other hand, a sabotaging Democrat knows that he faces a re-election battle, he will think twice about his opposition.

Hard-Headed

During three months of Washington's most torrid heat, Prentiss L. Cooney, unofficial ambassador of Big Business, has been working quietly to establish a basis of friendly relations between business and the New Deal. The other day a friend asked him how he was making out.

This was Cooney's unexpected reply:

"I am having no trouble with the New Dealers. They are very cooperative. But I certainly am having trouble getting ideas through the heads of some business men. They just will not listen to reason."

Wheat Dumping

On the surface, the Agriculture Department's new wheat export subsidy is for the purpose of getting rid of surplus wheat. Behind the scenes, however, that is not the only reason.

Another important purpose is to read a pointed sermon to the rest of the world, warning that the United States by no means has surrendered the world wheat market to others.

The world has had this notion ever since 1933, and Henry Wallace is tired of being misunderstood. The same is true about cotton, pork and all other export products, but the sorest point is wheat.

The idea has gotten abroad that Uncle Sam, under the New Deal, gracefully bowed out of the market in favor of the Argentines, Australians, Canadians, Russians, and the Danube countries. This idea grew out of the announced policy of crop reduction, plus the unannounced accident of drought.

Henry Wallace, the idealist, wanted to maintain the normal U. S. export market for wheat without sneaking any acres out of the deck, but when he found that the United States was the only country keeping a free and uncontrolled wheat market, he has now decided to compromise with idealism and use the tactics of the opposition.

This decision was equivalent to sending a diplomatic note to other wheat exporting countries saying, "We regret to advise that we cannot surrender our share of the world wheat market. We intend to keep it, even at the cost of subsidizing exports."

Wallace vs. Hull

Wallace took this step despite the opposition of Cordell Hull and the knowledge it would raise hob with the trade agreement program.

On this he had no illusions. He did find the Canadians under illusions, however. When wheat experts M. L. Wilson and L. A. Wheeler went to Ottawa ten days ago to discuss cooperation with the Canadians in export subsidizing, they were amazed to hear the Canadians exclaim, "But we have no export subsidy."

They call it simply a "wheat policy," but it amounts to a subsidy, since the Government guarantees the farmers a certain price and makes up the loss when the world market falls below that price.

Note—Wallace, asked in a press conference if he saw any difference between export subsidy and dumping, grinned and replied, "I'm a simple minded person like yourself."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Substance" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 11, 1938.

Golden Text: Matthew 5:6. "Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Unto you, O men, I call; and my voice is to the sons of man. I lead in the way of righteousness, in the midst of the paths of judgment: That I may cause those that love me to inherit substance; and I will fill their treasures" (Prov. 8:4, 20, 21).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Man walks in the direction towards which he looks, and where his treasure is, there will his heart be also." "Things spiritual and eternal are substantial" (pp-451, 335).

MIND YOUR MANNERS
Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. Are you expected to repay

a call made by your clergyman and his wife?

2. Is it all right to serve simple afternoon tea to callers who are calling for the first time?

3. When you make a social blunder, is it a good idea to call others' attention to it?

4. Is it necessary for persons who have dined with each other several times to not invite the other until the last invitation has been repaid?

5. Should you be careful about leaving stains on your hostess' napkins?

What would you do if—
You are in a restaurant and wish to call the attention of the waiter and cannot catch his eye—
(a) Call, "Waiter," in a low voice?
(b) Call him "Garcon" or "Boy"?
(c) Go after him?

Answers

1. Yes.

2. Yes, and a pleasant custom.

3. No, unless it is something for which you should beg another's pardon.

4. No.

5. Yes, but some of it can't be helped.

Program Before Extension Club

The most interesting number on the program given at the Hughesville Extension Club, Friday, was a short travelogue by Mrs. George Thornton, who recently returned from a summer's visit in Florida and Michigan.

She said, "My two greatest thrills were when I first saw the ocean in Florida and the mountains en route to Michigan."

Among other interesting things she told of drinking from the fountain of youth and gathering sea shells.

Mrs. J. O. Kincheloe was program leader with "September" as her theme. Those assisting on the program and in the parliamentary drill held by Mrs. C. N. Richardson were Mesdames Berry Elliott, George Callis, Leland Beal, D. D. Powell, G. G. Gorrell, Charles Bliss, Homer Cunningham, Lee May, Dwight Lowrey and Misses Mildred and Miriam Nell Rages, Mary May, Clara Jaeger and Mildred Lowrey.

The musical number on the program was a piano duet "Matilda," by Heinrich Engel—Misses Mildred and Miriam Nell Rages. Mrs. Lon R. Slaton told of Frances E. Willard, and Mrs. W. P. Fowler of the Cooperative Home for girl students in Columbia.

Mrs. Harold Conway read the poem "Friendly House" at the close of the program.

Preceding the program, Mrs. Montgomery explained methods of rural electrification.

The business meeting included the planning of an achievement day program and presentation of names of officers by Mrs. Richardson, chairman of the nominating committee. The following officers were re-elected:

President—Mrs. Harold Conway.

Vice President—Mrs. Charles Bliss.

Song Leader—Mrs. G. G. Gorrell.

New officers elected were:

Secretary—Mrs. Homer Cunningham.

Game Leader—Mrs. D. R. Powell.

Parliamentarian—Mrs. George Callis.

Hostesses for the day were Mesdames Ed Callis, Joe Elliott and R. E. Tevebaugh. Lovely bouquets of fall flowers were used for decorating.

There were twenty-four members and seven visitors present. Visitors other than those taking part on the program were Mrs. Lucy Wilhelm of Marshall; Mrs. Thomas and Maude Catherine Davis.

Next month there will be a book review by Mrs. Lillian McCurdy, and a program on Missouri history with Mrs. D. R. Powell, leader.

OVER A MILLION DRIVERS' LICENSES

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 6.—(AP)—More than a million Missouri motorists bought the state's new drivers licenses—at an average rate of more than 125 an hour—during the first year of the new license law's operation.

Up to September 1 a total of 1,119,250 licenses had been issued, Deputy Motor Vehicle Commissioner Percy B. McMahon announced today. The driver's license law went into effect September 6, 1937, precipitating a flood of applications, but the issuance of 22,750 licenses during August shows the demand for licenses is still strong.

Licenses of 778 drivers had been revoked or suspended up to September 1 for law violations, but 276 suspensions had been lifted leaving only 502 still in effect. "Expressions from safety and law enforcement officials from all sections of the state are to the effect that the driver's license law has had a tremendous effect in making streets and highways more safe," said McMahon, who is in charge of the driver's license bureau. "The law has proved of great benefit in making the motoring public 'safety conscious'."

Yesterday: Just as the auctioning of Golden Toy is about to begin a big car althurs to a stop at the barn.

CHAPTER V

A MAN leaped from the car, a powerfully-built fellow in form-fitting gray tweeds. As he started toward the barn the crowd gave way. He marched straight to the auctioneer.

Linda Gordon gave a start. "Monte Hill!" she exclaimed to her uncle. He turned a puzzled face toward her. "Friend of mine," won the Juvenile Stakes last week," she explained quickly, then stepped forward.

The auctioneer beamed expansively. "Just in the nick of time, my good friend." From Belmont! This man spent money. "Salute! starting—to the highest bidder—the Radford colts. Cash on the barrel-head, and no reasonable bid refused. Now I offer—"

Again his voice went into singing: "Golden Toy, 2 years old, by Pompey, out of Toy Girl, by Lord Goldman. Half-brother of the great Pompon, winner of the Belmont Futurity, the Dixie Handicap. Need I say more? What am I bid to open? Give me a nice breather, folks!"

Linda had wanted to go to Monte's side, but things were moving too fast. She'd bid—then she'd catch his eye.

"One hundred dollars!" She shouted the offer.

The auctioneer's jaw dropped. He turned—all turned—and looked at Linda. The auctioneer seemed hard put to find words with which to express his feelings to a lady. Why, the bid was insulting!

He began protesting, as Monte Hill stared across to Linda, surprise on his face. "I—ah—folks—folks! I can't take such an offer. He should start at a couple of thousand."

"Two—"

THE word rang out from the other side of the circle. Monte Hill stopped, whirled around to see who was making the bid. Greeting Linda Gordon could wait. This was business.

"I thank you, sir! Thank you, Mr. Donald! I'm bid two thousand—"

"My bid was two hundred—you didn't let me finish," the young man called out clearly.

The auctioneer slapped his huge paunch in disgust. "What's this? Ladies and gentlemen, this is no game o' marbles. We are selling one of the finest bred colts—"

"And fifty—that's two hundred and fifty from me!" Linda called.

Monte Hill was at her side in three long steps. "Hello, Linda!" He seized her hands, spoke quickly: "Never mind—I'll bid him in."

"But I—I want him myself!" she exclaimed, freeing her hands, as the auctioneer cried for more bids. "Forget it! Women and racing—don't mix." Hill told her. "I'll get him." He whirled around. "What was that last bid, Mr. Auctioneer?"

"I'm ashamed to tell you, sir. It was a measly little two hundred and—"

"Make it $500!" Hill called with nonchalance.

"I'm bid five hundred for Golden Toy. We've just been joking so far—all in good fun," the auctioneer resumed.

While he talked young Donald was circling the crowd till he reached Linda's side. She had stepped away from Hill.

"I'm bid five hundred for Golden Toy; do I hear the thousand?" the auctioneer sang-songed.

Donald looked straight at Linda, said in low, quick tones: "I want that colt—you want him. I've about gone the limit. I can go only five-fifty—"

He broke off, as the auctioneer addressed the girl.

"Will the young lady make it a thousand? There's no rush, don't wish to hurry you, Miss." His voice wheedled, "Make it a thousand, Miss?"

Donald urged: "I'll put my five-fifty with your money; we bid together. Own him fifty-fifty. How's that?"

Linda made her decision in a split second. "I've six hundred. I'll take you if my uncle trains him," she nodded to Uncle Sandy, "and gets one-third of his wins, and one-third if we sell."

Mr. Jenkins, the auctioneer, was getting anxious. "Come, folks, come—this is a horse sale! I'm bid five hundred—"

Donald's face sobered as he heard Linda's terms. He said: "You're a keen business girl, but you're on. We've got eleven-fifty between us; you make the bids, for luck."

She nodded with a slight lowering of eyebrows. Said softly: "Move away—so they won't get on." He shrugged his shoulders, stepped off, as though he were through.

MR. JENKINS was calling: "Offered five hundred—who says the thousand?"

Linda called, "Six hundred!"

"Seven-fifty" from Hill. He came across the space to her. "Look here, Linda; you can't bid against me—"

OBITUARY

Atwell L. Montgomery

Atwell Lee Montgomery, aged 54 years, a former Pettis county, died at 10:30 o'clock Saturday night, at San Benito, Texas, his home, of a heart attack.

Mr. Montgomery was a son of the late Thomas Montgomery and Mrs. Nellie Montgomery, who lived in Houstonia. Mrs. Montgomery, his mother, died last September 25.

The son, Atwell Lee, graduated from the law school of the university of Missouri in 1912 and went immediately to Texas where he had since been practicing law, one of the leading attorneys of southwest Texas. He was a member of the law firm of which Thomas E. Gregory was the leading attorney in 1914, when Mr. Gregory was appointed attorney-general of the United States by President Woodrow Wilson.

Mr. Montgomery leaves the following brothers and sisters, Mrs. Edith Dickson, Eureka, Calif., Louis R. Montgomery, Houstonia, Mrs. Mildred Allen, a missionary in Congo Belge, Miss Nellie Montgomery, Brookfield, Miss Katherine Montgomery, Frankfort, Ky., Mrs. Dorothy Waterman, Kansas City. The deceased was a nephew of James T. Montgomery, Sedalia attorney.

Mr. Montgomery was in the service during the world war. A member of the American Legion of Texas, J. E. McAnally, who was also a close friend and Frank Robertson, of San Benito, a cousin of the deceased will accompany the body to Sedalia.

The funeral party will arrive in Sedalia at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, and the body will be taken to Gillespie's Funeral Home, where that afternoon a short funeral service will be held at 2 o'clock.

The service will be conducted by the Rev. R. A. Waggoner, the pastor of the Broadway Presbyterian church, who was a school mate of Mr. Montgomery.

The following friends will serve as pallbearers: J. E. McAnally of San Benito; John Zoll, R. Emmert Robertson, Kansas City, Frank Robertson, Edgar Durley Hughesville and William Belamy, Marshall.

Interment will be in Crown Hill cemetery.

Edd Earle Isenberg

Edd Earle (better known to Sedalia residents as "Tine") Isenberg, was born at Sedalia, January 1, 1892, and passed away at Kansas City, August 27, 1938, aged 46 years. He was the eldest son of John Shelby Isenberg and Margaret Isenberg, both of whom preceded him in death.

During the World War he served in the army and was a member of the American Legion.

He had been ill since February 1936, having been stricken with heart disease at that time. He entered the Veterans' hospital at Legion, Texas, March 12, 1937, and was transferred to the hospital at Excelsior Springs February 6, 1938. He was discharged from the hospital March 23, in a much improved condition, and up to 56 hours before his death, had been able to be out, and was in better health than at any time since he was first taken ill. He was stricken with pneumonia on August 25, and passed away just 56 hours later.

He received his education in the school system of Sedalia, studying under Miss Lydia Montgomery. He later studied art at Washington University, St. Louis, and Federal Art School, St. Paul, Minn. He served his apprenticeship in the paint shops of the Katy lines in Sedalia, on which line his father traveled for 39 years.

He was married to Mrs. Thelma Longfellow on February 14, 1934, who, with a son, Cecil, 1317 Charlotte street, Kansas City, Mo., and a daughter, Mrs. O. L. Green, Bay City, Texas, mourn his loss. He leaves also a niece, Miss Norma Isenberg, Sedalia, and a brother, George, Knoxville, Iowa.

He united with the Seventh Day Adventist church at the age of 41.

Funeral services were conducted at Kansas City, Monday, August 29, Rev. C. H. Donohoe, officiating and the flag draped casket was laid to rest in the family lot in the Odd Fellows cemetery, Smithville, Mo.

Ralph Madden

Messages received here Sunday conveyed news of the passing at Hope, Ark., of Ralph Madden, aged 30 years, employed there with the Southwestern Bell Telephone company.

Mr. Madden was the husband of the former Miss Louise Stewart, of Atchison, Kas., whose mother was previous to marriage Miss Hattie Gross, of Sedalia, a sister of Mrs. Louise White, and Frank W. Gross.

He is survived by a widow and one son, seven months old, together with his parents, all of whom were at his bedside at his death.

The body will be taken to Milwaukee, Wis., for burial and the funeral party will be joined at St. Louis by Mrs. Madden's uncle, W. C. Gross, who will go to Milwaukee for the funeral and burial.

Funeral of Mrs. Henry

Military services were conducted this afternoon for Mrs. Laura Rider Henry, wife of Porter Henry, of Spring Fork, who passed away at Rochester, Minn., under the auspices of the Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion.

gion, with Comrade Omer B. Poundstone giving the last rites of the American Legion, followed by the sounding of Taps by the American Legion bugler.

Services were conducted at the First Christian Church at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon with the Reverend A. W. Kokendoff, pastor, officiating, which were largely attended by her many friends.

Pall bearers were relatives and friends of the family.

Burial was in the Crown Hill cemetery.

Many beautiful floral tributes were sent by relatives and friends.

YOUTH ACCUSED IN ABDUCTING A SCHOOL TEACHER

Rescued Near Paris, Mo., By Farmer With An Unloaded Gun

KID NIP TEACHER

PARIS, Mo., Sept. 6.—The cries of two schoolboys who sought the help of a neighbor frightened the abductor of a pretty rural school teacher and kept her from harm, Sheriff Russell Wilkes said today.

The teacher, 23-year-old Elinor Fern Dooley, was rescued by a farmer with an unloaded shotgun, about an hour after she was forced from her classroom yesterday.

The farmer, Clarence Young, captured a boy, armed with a knife, who was crouched near her.

Sheriff Wilkes said the boy, identified as Clarence Delmore, 14, and described as "large for his age," told him he had intended to attack the teacher but was frightened when he heard the children spread the alarm.

Ran For Help

Although the abductor had warned them to remain in their classroom, two of the pupils, Norman Ewing, 13, and Charles Gerding, 10, ran to the nearby farm of Emmet Reighly to call for help. Reighly was shingling the roof of his barn and the boys shouted to him that their teacher had been kidnapped.

Delmore, forcing Miss Dooley through a nearby cornfield, heard the boys yell and realized an immediate search would be made, the sheriff said. He led Miss Dooley through a brush pasture and across Crooked creek, halting at the edge of a dense wooded area to rest.

In the meantime, Reighly had scrambled down from the barn and had telephone authorities, who immediately organized a posse of 100 farmers, armed with whatever weapons they could find.

Young, who left his shells behind when he grabbed his double-barreled shotgun to join the posse, came upon Miss Dooley and her captor as they sat at the fringe of the woods. The boy surrendered without resistance at the show of the empty gun.

Miss Dooley was unharmed, except for scratches on her legs from brambles and briar. She said the boy treated her "as chivalrous as he possibly could" after he realized an alarm had been sounded.

Prosecuting Attorney Tom Proctor said the youth, because of his age, probably would be charged in juvenile court with incorrigibility. He also is to be taken before the county medical board for a sanity examination.

Miss Dooley related a youth, large for his age, came into Washington school, nine miles north of here, a half hour after morning classes opened.

Stick Looked Like Gun

"He had an open pocket knife in his left hand and had his right hand in his pocket, holding a stick so that it looked like a gun," she said.

"Keep quiet," he growled. Miss Dooley, daughter of a country store owner, said she accompanied the youth because she was afraid he might harm the children.

As they left the building she said he turned and warned the children to "stay here till 4 o'clock or I'll fill your teacher full of lead."

"He was very gentlemanly and considerate," Miss Dooley said. "He even whittled me a drinking cup out of bark when I became thirsty."

Instead of heeding the warning, one of the boys in the class, Norman Ewing, 13, ran to a farm nearby and called officers.

Sheriff Wilkes, with aid of state patrolmen, called out an estimated 100 farmers who picked up whatever weapons they could find.

The posse came upon the teacher and the youth about two miles from the school. The youth, who was unarmed except for a pocket knife, surrendered without resistance.

Wilkes said the youth refused to discuss the case.

SHOT 'PEPPERS' BOYS IN A MELON PATCH

Stealing watermelons did not prove out so good for five youths Sunday night, when two became victims of the owners of the patch R. W. Richardson and William McCune, who laid in wait for persons who had been taking the melons.

Richardson rose in the middle of his patch about 9 o'clock Sunday night to see several boys making a raid. He called for them to stop and when they refused opened fire with his "trustworthy" and filled two boys with number seven bird shot.

Dean Murray, 15, accounted for seventy-seven shot in the rear part of his right leg. The shot struck him from the hip down, one pellet struck the right arm and it was extracted while Charles Phillips accounted for sixteen of the shot, four in the back of his head and twelve in right leg. They were all removed except one or two in his head.

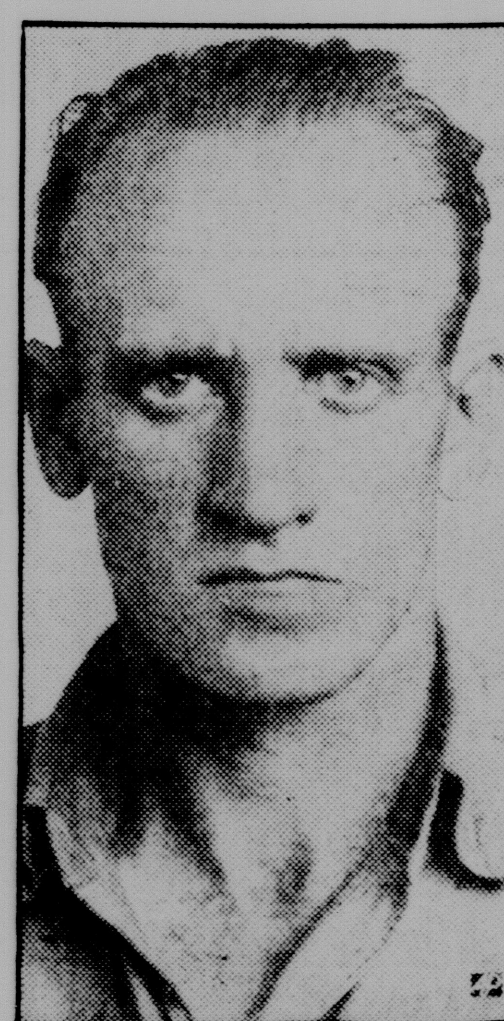

Today Harry Wahlers owner of the truck who took the boys to the melon patch near the Able road bridge, was fined $5 upon pleading guilty to justice of the Peace W. H. Leslie on a charge of petit larceny and Clifford Scott, Theodore Anderson and David Wilson, charged jointly with attempt of petit larceny pleaded guilty to justice of the Peace W. R. Large and were fined $5 and costs for the trio.

The two wounded boys were given treatment at the Bothwell hospital by Dr. J. E. Mitchell, and later went to their homes after being questioned at the county jail by Sheriff W. L. Marlin and Prosecuting Attorney Job Harned.

Saltwater rains have often been reported during tropical cyclones. This is explained by the fact that spray from waves which the storms generate is frequently carried far inland by the winds.

So delicately poised are the scales used in weighing diamonds that the weight of a single eyelash will turn the balance.

SENTENCED TO DIE

Oscar Ralph Ashworth (above) 37, was sentenced at St. Joseph, Mo., to die in the Missouri gas chamber for kidnapping a 7-year-old girl last August. He pleaded guilty on being returned from Green Bay, Wis., where he was arrested, and immediately was sentenced to be executed October 14.

LABOR WEEK-END DEATH TOLL NEAR THE 400 MARK

Traffic Accidents Claim Heaviest Toll In Many Killed

By The Associated Press

The nation's labor week-end death toll this year climbed to 397, a survey showed today, as compared with 391 for the 1937 week-end.

Jammed highways and bathing resorts accounted for most of the tragedies, but the automobile was by far the greater single death-dealer. At least 278 persons were killed in motor car mishaps; 44 were drowned.

The figures also included 18 suicides, 11 homicides and 45 miscellaneous fatalities.

California and Ohio, with 33 deaths each, led the grim parade. Ohio alone had 30 auto fatalities. There were 32 violent deaths in New York state, 29 in Michigan and 23 in Illinois.

The toll by states:

Alabama 3, Arkansas 4, California 33, Colorado 4, Connecticut 5, Delaware 3, District of Columbia 4, Florida 3, Georgia 5, Idaho 8, Illinois 23, Indiana 21, Iowa 10, Kansas 1, Kentucky 14, Louisiana 9, Maine 1, Maryland 2, Massachusetts 8, Michigan 29, Minnesota 6, Missouri 4, Mississippi 1, Nebraska 1, New Hampshire 8.

New Jersey 16, Mexico 2, New York 32, North Carolina 9, North Dakota 1, Ohio 33, Oklahoma 1, Oregon 1, Pennsylvania 15, South Carolina 2, South Dakota 1, Tennessee 14, Texas 9, Utah 1, Vermont 9, Virginia 6, Washington 4, West Virginia 1, Wisconsin 10, Wyoming 3.

Thirteen Tragic Deaths

Deaths in accidents in Missouri over the extended Labor Day week end totaled 13.

Eight fatalities resulted from automobile accidents. One man was struck by a train. Two drowned. One person suffocated while using a homemade diving helmet.

Monday's casualty list included:

Columbia—The three children of Mr. and Mrs. Michael George of St. Louis were killed in the collision of an automobile with a truck on Highway 40. They were Florence, 4, Gloria Ann, 3, and Michael, Jr., 1.

Marshall—Robert Seaton, an electrical welder, was struck and killed by a Missouri Pacific train three miles west of Grand Pass.

St. Louis—Riley Hull, 40, drowned in the Mississippi river near here while with a party of friends.

Cape Girardeau—William J. Coats, 65, of Chicago, drowned in the Castor river while on a fishing trip with his son-in-law.

Poplar Bluff—Robert W. Lampmann, 30, of Poplar Bluff, died five hours after his automobile careened from highway 60 and ran into a water filled ditch. Blowout of a tire was blamed.

Donald A. Harris, 20, suffocated while walking on the bottom of Lake Latawana near Kansas City Sunday in a helmet made from an old hot water tank. Harris had been testing the apparatus in about 40 feet of water.

Five traffic fatalities also were reported during the first two days of the 72-hour holiday.

ELECTION NEXT MEETING FOR S. B. A.

Queen City Council No. 561, Security Benefit Association, after an adjournment through the month of August, held a well attended meeting Monday night, with John E. Bohon, presiding.

After the transaction of much routine work and reports received of several members who had been at the S. B. A. hospital, announcement was made of the annual election of officers to be held next Monday night.

Additional Society

Mr. and Mrs. Ulysses S. Grant, one of Sedalia's well known couples, quietly observed their golden wedding anniversary at their home, 217 East Sixth street, Sunday, September 4.

Miss Patty Quinn entertained about thirty couples at an informal dance at the Country club Monday night. Chaperoning the young folks were Miss Patty's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Quinn and Mr. and Mrs. John McGrath.

SEVERAL DIVORCE DECREES GRANTED

The civil division of the Pettis county circuit court opened Monday morning, and the court remained open until noon, during which time the trial docket was set.

A number of cases were disposed of Monday and today as follows:

Mrs. Ethel Eirls was granted a divorce from Charles Eirls.

HEAVY INFLOW OF GOLD TO AMERICA

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Headed for the U. S. treasury's vaults, some of the biggest shipments of gold received in recent years are moving across New York's docks in a flight of capital from war-scarred Europe.

Nearly $24,000,000 of the metal, described in financial circles as the largest shipment since the present inflow from Europe started more than a month ago, was reported today to have arrived on the Queen Mary.

Additional heavy consignments were indicated as demand for American dollars and gold continued brisk in London.

The movement of funds here was regarded as partly, at least, a precautionary shift in the event of war. In addition, exchange men said, transfer of gold from England has been necessary to pay for merchandise bought in the United States. This country's exports in the last year have run far ahead of merchandise imports.

Over the labor day recess in Wall Street, the British pound cracked sharply under the strain of money headed for America. Echoing the fall, the pound was quoted at one time today in Wall Street at $4.82½, of 1½ cents from Saturday's close.

The United States buys all the gold offered at the fixed price of $35 an ounce. But in London the demand for the metal hoisted the open-market price about 19 cents an ounce above Saturday's level in terms of sterling. This was one of the widest advances for so brief a period since the British instituted exchange control through the fluctuating gold market in 1931.

The French franc followed the pound on the decline. Sterling, however, was the focus of trading interest.

Divorce Is Petitioned

Alleging that her husband, William A. Grotjan, to whom she has been married five months, is past seventy-two years of age receives an old age pension, and does not want to do any work and support her, Mrs. Mattie Jane Grotjan filed a suit in the circuit court today asking for a divorce. She also asks for the restoration of her former name, Mattie Jane Wagner.

Lamm and Barnett are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Files Divorce Action

Alleging general indignities Mrs. Ruth M. Neely today filed a suit in the circuit court, asking for a divorce from Glenn E. Neely, to whom, the petition states, she was married March 21, 1918.

HITLER IGNORES CZECHS' AFFAIRS IN PROCLAMATION

Greater Germany and Annexing Austria Main Themes

NURNBERG, Germany, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler ignored Czechoslovakia in his proclamation today to the tenth annual Nazi congress, disappointing anxious European statesmen who had hoped for an inkling of Germany's intentions in Central Europe.

Almost his whole 5,000-word proclamation dealt with inner condition of Germany, particularly economically, which the Fuehrer assured his followers was so healthy that the nation "will be without worries for food for years to come."

Through the voice of district leader Adolf Wagner, who read the Fuehrer's proclamation in congress hall, Hitler repudiated any intention of forming a pact with foreign powers.

"I have never had nor have this intention," the chancellor declared.

Instead, he declared he was offering the people a "greater Germany"—referring to the absorption last March 13 of Austria—and the union of "six and a half million Germans who today spiritually unite here . . . stronger than ever . . . in a great indissoluble community."

The absence of any word on Czechoslovakia undoubtedly was disappointing to the 45 frock-coated foreign diplomats who had accepted Hitler's personal invitation to attend the congress.

Among them was Hugh R. Wilson, United States ambassador to Berlin. Never before had an American ambassador accepted the invitation to Nurnberg.

Besides his brief denial of any intention of aligning Germany in a pact, the chancellor's only allusions to foreign affairs were an evident reference to Italy's newly begun anti-Jewish measures and a denunciation of the "International Jewish World Enemy."

Greater Germany, its inner strength and the annexation of Austria provided his main themes.

Germany's house is in order, he declared, and he advised the Democracies to follow her example if they wanted to revive world trade.

The proclamation was the formal opening of the congress.

Reaction Awaited

PHAHA, Sept. 6.—(AP)—The Czech government anxiously awaited reaction today from two quarters to its sweeping concessions to the German population of the Republic.

The first question was, "Would this 'last ultimate offer,' formulated at a 4½-hour cabinet session last night, satisfy the Sudeten Germany party which in long-winded negotiations has been insisting on a degree of autonomy amounting almost to independence?"

The second question: "How would the Czechs, who have been aroused to nationalistic fervor by the patriotic press, receive the news of a government retreat under German pressure

Irving Berlin's ALEXANDER'S RAGTIME BAND

A 20th Century-Fox picture featuring
TYRONE POWER • ALICE FAYE • DON AMECHE
Ethel Merman • Jack Haley • Jean Hersholt

TO "Dirty Eddie's," a mediocre taproom popular in San Francisco in 1911, came pretty Stella Kirby (Alice Faye), seeking a job as a singer. Just as she arrived, a group of luckless musicians who singing had not pleased the customers, were being heaved out by the irate manager. But this did not disturb Stella — she was used to such rough-house tactics. So, with a wise-crack to the victims, she entered the place to try her luck, with the hard-boiled audience.

THERE, too, for a try-out were members of a jazz band, led by Roger Grant (Tyron Power), young society man, and his piano player, Charlie Dwyer (Don Ameche). Stella had brought with her the music for "Alexander's Ragtime Band," a new jazz hit, and the band decided to play the song for its try-out. They didn't bother to ask Stella.

WHEN Stella heard the band break into her song for its try-out, she angrily rose from her table, and leaped onto the platform. Too late to denounce Roger for stealing her music, she just joined in with the band, singing to their accompaniment. Somehow, the rough-house audience liked the combination of Stella's singing and the band's playing. From everywhere in the smoke-laden room, came thunderous applause. The manager promptly offered the band and Stella jobs.

BUT Stella, still raging against what she thought Roger's trick, angrily grabbed her music and started to leave the place. Charlie Dwyer, against the prospect of losing the band's first chance at a contract, followed her. He finally persuaded her that both she and the band would benefit by teaming up. And Stella agreed to the proposition. It was not long before "Alexander's Ragtime Band," became famous. (To be continued)

DAVIS CUP WILL STAY IN THE U.S. ANOTHER YEAR

Tennis Supremacy Settled With Triumph of Budge

By GAYLE TALBOT
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 6.—(AP)—The glittering Davis cup, symbolic of world team tennis supremacy, remains in these United States for another year, and the maligned foot-fault has reared its ugly head again.

When Donald Budge had finished polishing off Adrain Quist of Australia by scores of 8-6, 6-1, 6-2 in the match that settled the challenge round at the Germantown Cricket Club yesterday, Frank Hunter, an old American internationalist, said, "Gee, it made me feel like I was in Paris again."

Hunter had reference to the fact that after the French had won the big trophy from America 11 years ago they were very stubborn about turning it loose again. Visiting American teams complained that French line judges were extremely valuable in the French cup defense. One year Wilmer Allison thought he had defeated Gene Borotra of France in the deciding match but couldn't make it stick.

Yesterday an American line judge, Harold La Bair of New York, called a series of disconcerting foot-faults against Quist at the exact point in the opening set when the little Austrian was blazing hot and threatening to give the world's top amateur a trimming.

Crowd Fighting Mad

Whether Quist in any circumstances could have licked Budge and carried the challenge round to a final match between Bobby Riggs and Jack Bromwich is subject to serious doubt, but the decisions cost the invader whatever chance he had and made the crowd of over 9,000 fighting mad.

Harry Hopman, Australian, captain, didn't complain. He said he thought Quist was foot-faulting. What the crowd and several prominent American tennis officials complained about was the way La Bair waited until the most crucial points of the all-important first set. It broke Quist's confidence so completely that he proceeded to lose his service eight straight times.

Once he quit using his natural serve and dashing behind it into the net, Budge had his number. The big fellow, playing his last Davis cup match before he turns pro this winter, was in magnificent fettle the last two sets, running his discouraged rival ragged with blistering drives into the corners and murdering his weak returns at the net.

Budge's tennis had been so indifferent on the previous day, when he and Gene Mako lost the doubles match to Quist and Bromwich by 0-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2, that there was active fear he would lose to Quist. As things turned out, Budge's victory was the vital one because Bromwich beat the tar out of Riggs in the concluding singles match, 6-4, 4-6, 6-0, 6-2, giving America a final winning margin of only 3-2 over the scrapping Aussies.

PHIL MC LAUGHLIN TOURNAMENT WINNER

Philip McLaughlin won the annual Labor day handicap tournament at the Sedalia Country Club with a net score of 63 and was pushed hard for the position by James P. Quinn, Sr., whose net score was 65.

McLaughlin shot a 77 and had a handicap of 14 strokes while Quinn shot an 80 with a 15 handicap.

The third place honors were divided by James P. Quinn, Jr., and Jack McLaughlin, both having a set score of 69. Quinn shot a 77 with a handicap of 8 while McLaughlin having a 17 handicap shot an 86.

More than twenty players participated in the tourney.

Pete Fox Is Favorite
CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 6.—Baseball fans, particularly those from around Detroit, have proven conclusively that they are all for Pete Fox.

Their affection for the Tiger outfielder was demonstrated in an avalanche of votes, that placed Fox at right field position on the Kellogg All American Baseball Popularity Poll team.

Fox is the second Tiger to earn this honor. A few weeks ago Charley Gehringer was named second baseman on the honor team, and was fittingly rewarded. Fox's award, a new car, will be presented him as soon as plans for the ceremony have been completed.

The selection of the player, who hails from Evansville, Indiana, may come as a surprise to a majority of fans around the country, but to those who have followed the Detroit player the result of the right field balloting will be taken as a matter of course. For Fox, so some experts say, is the most under-rated player in baseball. His value to a team is inestimable.

PROPOSES TAX ON MACHINES THAT DISPLACE LABOR
KANSAS CITY, Sept. 6.—A tax on new machines which displace labor was advocated by Rep. R. T. Wood of Springfield, President of the Missouri Federation of Labor, in a labor day address here.

Wood praised the administration of President Roosevelt. He said he did not believe William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, could have done as much for labor the last six years, if he had been president of the country.

The Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ
NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Major Bob Neyland has sent out an SOS for Frank (Bring 'Em Back Alive) Buck to help coach the Tennessee football team. . . . On successive Saturdays the Vols must tangle with the Sewanee Tigers, the Clemson Tigers, the Auburn Tigers and later (if Buck can save 'em) bump into Alabama's big Red Elephants and the Kentucky Wildcats. . . . Sidney Wood, who has played both, says if Budge and Vines tour the country as pros this winter, Budge will win seven out of ten matches. . . . Coach Bo McMillin has three aspiring cartoonists (all members of his squad) helping him diagram blackboard plays for his Indiana football team.

And how about that double blast the Cubs gave the Pirates? . . . Four years ago baseball experts told Ray Dumont, head of the national semi-pro congress, he was crazy to attempt the organization of 48 states and half million ball players. . . . Well, Ray has done just that and off goes our brand new derby. . . . Down at Duke they're harping about the inexperience of Wallace Wade's 1939 Blue Devils and that means all hands had better look out. . . . Somebody will get their ears pinned back for fair. . . . Lefty Grove, runner-up to Jimmy Dykes for cigar smoking honors in the American league, has ditched the stogies in favor of peppermint drops.

Terry's plans for a 1939 shake-up have the Giants scared stiff. . . . Up in the Canadian-American league they only yawn when you say something about no-hit games. . . . They've had four of 'em this season (and the Gloveville, N. Y., club figured in all four). . . . Every time he is slated to pitch, Lefty Gomez takes a little Chinese boy to the Yankee Stadium. . . . And did you see those pictures of Lefty decorating his wife, June O'Dea, the former comedy cymbal, right on the kiss-in a night club? . . . Looks like a reconciliation. . . . All their friends hope so, anyway. . . . Best front office job honors in the majors this year go to Larry MacPhail.

The Confederate veterans were holding a reunion at Columbia, S. C. . . . one 90-year-old youngster, (He was Henry Clay Turk of New Orleans), asked that a newspaper be read to him. "What shall I read?" questioned the good-looking who drew the assignment. "The sports pages," replied Mr. Turk. . . . "Tell me how Brooklyn came out yesterday and where it stands in the National league" . . . (And if that ain't one for Mr. Ripley, you can sue us) . . . P. S. The Dodgers lost as usual.

Look out for that Columbia football team this fall and that goes for the Yales, too. . . . Guy Gold, a southpaw high school pitcher in Shelby, North Carolina, pitched his team to the county championship by twirling—and winning—three games in four days. . . . In the three games he whiffed 51 batters and allowed only six hits. . . . When Monte Pearson lost that game the other day he had won 13 games including ten straight; he had pitched 13 complete games and Hank Greenburg, the 13th batter, opened the winning inning with a double. . . . No wonder ball players are superstitious. . . . Arthur H. Taylor, 21, has taken over head coaching duties at Ashland (Va.) high school which just about makes him the youngest coach in the country.

RESTAGE FAMOUS 75 ROUNDS FIGHT

RICHBURG, Miss., Sept. 6.—(AP)—The roaring crowd was gone again today from Richburg.

Forty-nine years ago sports and society bloods shouted themselves hoarse here while John L. Sullivan hammered Jake Kilrain for 75 rounds.

So yesterday "Pa" Stribling, father of the late boxer, W. L. Stribling, restaged the famous "battle of the century" as a Labor day feature.

Judge D. W. Holmes was master of ceremonies and read details of each of the 75 rounds of the history making fight before Harold Murphy, Springfield, Mo., boxer, as Sullivan, and Herbert Stribling, as Kilrain, re-enacted it.

But time had broken the spell. The crowd grinned at the tight and mustaches worn by the fighters, and tittered when they yelled "foul," just as Jake and John did.

The real applause was reserved for a Mississippi heavyweight hope named Moon Mullins, who fought ten rounds to a draw with Art Lasky, of Hollywood, Calif.

RESULTS OF FIGHTS ON LABOR DAY
Baltimore—Sixto Escobar, 122 Puerto Rico bantamweight champion, outpointed Lou Transpanti, 119-2, Baltimore (10), non-title.
Benton Harbor, Mich.—Jimmy

Buckler, 132, Louisville, knocked out Kid Brock, 135, Galveston, Tex., (7).

Syracuse, N. Y.—Walter Woods, 162, New York, outpointed Ralph De John, 164, Syracuse (6).

ALL-STARS WIN OVER REDSKINS

DALLAS, Sept. 6.—(AP)—It's an established tradition now, this "revenge" angle attached to the southwest's Labor day grid classic between its college all-stars and the world professional champions.

Three times this game, only three years old, has seen a "forgotten man" give the college boys the spark that netted three victories.

Lean Jack Robbins, forward passing ace from the University of Arkansas, last night took his all-star playmates on a 13-7 spree over the Washington Redskins.

Only a week ago Robbins squirmed on the bench at the Chicago classic while the Collegians whipped the Redskins. Two years ago it was Abe Mickal, Louisiana State star who failed to make the Chicago trip, who did the damage.

Last year it was Art Guepe, Marquette's whirlwind, who packed a punt return 55 yards to beat Chicago's Bears.

The professionals were crippled badly by Slinging Sam Baugh's ankle injury and the absence of Alabama Riley Smith, in a Chicago hospital.

The Collegians made 20 first downs to the Redskins' seven. They threw 51 passes and completed 22 of them for 293 yards while the Redskins tried 19, completed five for 59 yards. They gained 130 yards by rushing to Washington's 36.

Baugh's 65-yard quick kick early in the third period sent the stars into a series of fumbles that led to George Karamatic's Redskin touchdown from the one-yard line.

Then Robbins went to work. He returned the kickoff 40 yards, fired a long aerial to the 13-yarder, then pitched a touchdown pass to Northwestern's John Kovach. Indiana's George Miller tied the score 7-7 with a placement.

In the fourth period, Robbins crashed over from the 10-yard line for the winning touchdown.

MOKINS CHAMPS AT SOFTBALL

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Sept. 6.—(AP)—The St. Joseph Moks won their fourth consecutive state softball championship by defeating Webb City last night, 9 to 1, behind effective pitching by Babe Brown.

In the semi-finals the Makins nosed out the W. E. Isles of Kansas City, 2 to 1, and Webb City defeated Jefferson City, 5 to 2.

Results of quarter-final games yesterday were:
Mokins 8, Hannibal Internationals 0.
Jefferson City 3, St. Joseph Goetztes 2.
Webb City 2, Brookfield Zephyrs 0.

SCHOOLBOY ROWE PITCHES A "TWO-HITTER"

BEAUMONT, Texas, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Schoolboy Rowe, shunted to the Texas league this season by the Detroit Tigers because of an ailing arm, pitched a two-hitter for Beaumont last night, a 1 to 0 shutout of Houston.

Ball Game "Rained Out"
The Dixiel Oilers ball game at Glasgow was rained out Sunday afternoon and the game was called shortly before the noon hour.

This coming Sunday the Oilers will go to Windsor, Mo., where they will play the 75-Million Club of that place on their diamond.

WILLIAM HENRY LYNCH. Picturesque Schoolman

Called "Pioneer Educator of the Ozarks"

A number of Missouri statesmen have had expressive sobriquets bestowed on them by Missouri newspapers for their contributions to the state and nation, but few schoolmen have been thus recognized to such an extent as William Henry Lynch, an unusual educator who is known variously as "the Grand Old Man," "Pioneer Educator of the Ozarks" and the "Old Educational Warrior." For six decades this picturesque education promoter served the educational needs of the Ozarks and Southwest Missouri. As "school visitor" for the fourth normal school district he visited every school of consequence in twenty-one counties, encouraged teachers, inspired pupils and educated school boards.

William Henry Lynch was born on a farm near Houston, Texas county, Missouri, on September 6, 1839, ninety-nine years ago this week. Little data exists concerning his early life and education. He was one of the pioneer schoolmen who received his elementary training from his parents and then began teaching in a rural school.

With the outbreak of the war he joined the Union forces, and served until the end of the conflict, fighting with the 32nd Missouri regiment where he rose to the rank of captain. Lynch was with Sherman on his "march to the sea," after which his company marched north to Washington, D. C., and from there to Louisville, Kentucky. There on July 4, when General Sherman delivered his farewell address to his troops, Captain Lynch was regimental officer of the day. Returning to St. Louis, he was mustered out of service at Benton Barracks on July 22, 1865.

Immediately after his discharge from the army he went to Columbia, Missouri, and entered the university, where he was especially interested in studies of the classics, languages and mathematics. He also became quite active in the University Athenaeum Literary society. In 1866, after having been a university student for one year, he left to become the principal of the Steelville academy. Apparently he returned to the university during vacations for he was able to take a master of arts degree in 1868. Later he spent one summer at Harvard.

"School Visitor"
Lynch's real career as a teacher and school administrator began in 1866 while he was at the academy at Steelville, in Crawford county. He became superintendent of schools at Salem, Missouri, in 1873, and later served in that capacity at Mountain Grove, West Plains, Cabool, and Ozark, going from the latter to the Southwest Missouri State Teachers College at Springfield. Here for fourteen years he promoted the cause of education in southwest Missouri.

His special function on the staff of the teachers college was that of "school visitor." During an era of few automobiles and few telephones in rural homes it was his task to visit the schools and encourage promising young persons to go to college, preferably to the normal school at Springfield. At the end of his second year the board of regents asked Lynch to cease his activities for a time as the capacity of the school had been reached. When only six years old the normal school had an enrollment of 1,200.

Lynch was the friend of all newspaper men and is generally given credit for having promoted the use of newspapers in the classroom. He often said: "The newspapers and the public schools are the universities of the people. Every person who can read the Lord's prayer should take his home paper."

Few schoolmen have had a wider range of interests than Lynch, who held membership in many fraternal and public organizations. The new elementary school at Salem was named in his honor, and the Ozark press association presented to the South west State Teachers' College a bronze memorial tablet bearing his name and the date of his birth and death.

William Henry Lynch wrote no books, neither did he expound a new philosophy of education, yet in moral and ethical influence he is recognized as a man of outstanding importance in the history of public schools in the Ozarks. He died at Springfield, Missouri, on September 29, 1924.

SEES "VITAL NEED" FOR FREE PRESS

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—President Roosevelt sees a "vital need" for a free press "untrammeled by prejudice and unfettered by selfish bias, which will serve no cause but that of truth and which will recognize no master but justice."

Congratulating Frank D. Schlarth, former Scranton, Pa., publisher, on his recent acquisition of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle, the President wrote:

"These times, it seems to me, demand above all else truth in the news, for it is a corollary of our democracy that the public can be depended upon to address problems on policies at their true value if facts are presented as facts, and opinion as opinion—reach in its true light. We are governed by public opinion. We cannot lay too much stress on the importance of truth in the news.

"Once the public realizes that its newspaper serves no interest save that of truth," the President's letter continued, "it will give that paper an allegiance that neither depression nor ill-fortune nor any form of hard times can weaken."

"I have faith in the American press just as I have faith in the American people and in our democratic institutions. I venture the opinion that the straight forward pursuit of truth and justice points one way to prosperity and larger influence of American newspapers both great and small. "x x x times change but the essentials of life remain. Ours is the task of seeking a new approach to the solution of age old problems which present new phases to changing generations. In all this he who serves the cause of truth will best serve the national interest."

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Downward swings of 2 1/2 cents a bushel in Chicago wheat values today carried the market to low price records unequaled here before in five years.

Tumbles of 3 1/2 cents in Liverpool closing quotations had a decidedly unsettling influence, together with uncertainty regarding talk of chances for subsidy to aid in the export of wheat being tried to put a stop to losses gave special impetus to the fall of Chicago prices.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 cents lower compared with Saturday's finish, Sept. 6 1/2c to 6 1/2c, Dec. 6 1/2c to 6 1/2c, corn 1/2 to 1/2 cent down, Sept. 5 1/2c to 5 1/2c, Dec. 4 1/2c to 4 1/2c, and oats 1/2 to 1/2 cent off.

JAMES A. PARK, OF CLINTON, DIES

James A. Parks, 54 years old, well known attorney of Clinton, Mo., and a member of the Warrensburg State Teachers' College

IF YOU FEEL SUNK Read this and cheer up

Are you so blue that life is no longer worth living? Do you cry easily? Do you feel low, mean, depressed—just absolutely SUNK? Then here's good news for you in case you need a good general system tonic—Just take famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Let its wholesome herbs and roots help Nature build up your physical resistance and tone up your system, so that it can more easily throw off the "blues" and give more energy to enjoy life.

MILLIONS of women have depended upon this Compound and have passed the word along to friends and neighbors, and to their children.

Why not take Pinkham's Compound and go "smiling thru"?

board of regents, passed away Monday morning at his home following an illness of several weeks. Mr. Parks was operated upon at the Barnes hospital in St. Louis, several weeks ago, and he never recovered from this operation.

The passing of Mr. Parks is the third member of the STC board to have died within the past six months. The others are the late Con A. Bothwell of this city and Daniel M. Hoefler of Higginsville. Mr. Parks was named to the board by Governor Lloyd C. Stark in August of 1937.

He was the only child of Peyton A. and Mary E. Gathright Park, pioneer residents of Henry county. He was born in Clinton on October 13, 1883 and received his education in the Washington and Lee university at Lexington

Virginia, and the law school at the University of Missouri.

Mr. Parks began his practice of law soon after graduating from the university in 1906. He was a member of the advisory committee of the Missouri Bar Association and active in the civic affairs of not only his home town but in the State of Missouri.

Mr. Parks was united in marriage in 1911 to Miss Elizabeth Wallis and they had one child, a daughter, Mrs. Ralph Nattinger of Providence, R. I., who was with her father at the time of his death.

He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, of Clinton, and of the Masonic and B. P. O. E. Elks lodges and the Modern Woodman of America in Clinton.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Methodist Episcopal church, South, in Clinton with the Reverend E. D. Baker, pastor, officiating.

VISITS HERE AFTER A LONG ABSENCE

Dr. J. Calvin Settles, of Oakland, Calif., a resident of Sedalia thirty-seven years ago, arrived in Sedalia Monday to renew acquaintances and to visit the scenes of his home years ago. He stopped at Hotel Bothwell.

Dr. Settles, who is 71 years of age, when a resident of Sedalia, lived at Sixteenth street and Moniteau avenue. Monday he visited with Dan Dean, E. W. Couey, Charles H. Bard, Charles Williams and other Sedalians who were friends years ago.

Commenting on the city Dr. Settles said he noticed particularly the splendidly paved streets. "As I remember Sedalia," he said, "there were narrow dirt streets, and it now is one of the best cities for well paved, many miles of good streets."

One of Dr. Settles' neighbors in Oakland is Ralph Blair, a former Sedalian.

Dr. Settles left this afternoon for Windsor, where he lived sixty-two years ago, and will then go to Clinton, where his father is buried, then on to Dallas, San Antonio, and to San Francisco.

ACHIEVEMENT DAY PROGRAM GIVEN

Maplewood Health and First Aid Club and the Maplewood Rope Club held a joint achievement program Friday, September 2, at Maplewood Grange hall. About 60 people attended. Miss Anna Franklin, leader, and Mrs. Walter Rissler, assistant leader, were in charge of the program. The clubs had an enrollment of nine members and all have completed their work in each project. The following members had a record of perfect attendance for all 17 meetings of the club: J. W. Rissler, Dorothy Helen White, Billy Rissler, T. E. Thompson, Mary E. Rissler.

Dorothy Helen White, a member of these clubs welcomed Anna Belle Uffman, Ralph Banning and "Billy" Williams into the 4-H clubs for the coming year. They are all ten years old and are eligible to belong.

The Maplewood rope demonstration team that took a blue ribbon in Columbia showed their appreciation to Walter Rissler, Harman White and Edw. Heffernan for the help that they had given the team by presenting each one of the men with a halter that the team had made from rope that they had made out of binder twine.

POSSESSING HOME BREW CHARGED

Home brew has been found in Sedalia, according to federal agents assigned to arresting persons having liquor with un-paid tax, and one Sedalian was arrested by these officials. Andy Shick, 42 years old of this city, father of six children, who was arrested for possession of sixteen and three-fourths gallons of such brew.

Shick was taken before United States Commissioner Edna Morris, Saturday, and arraigned on the charge, and released on a $500

SHE NOW WONDERS WHERE HER PAIN HAS GONE TO

Mrs. Frank Miller Finds In Kru-Gon Just What She Had Been Needing For Many Years; Can Now Lay Down and Sleep In Comfort; Laxative - Tonic Formula Gave Her REAL Satisfaction.

Kru-Gon is helping people all over Sedalia and this entire section who never before had been given any actual relief by any other medicine they had tried. Read what Mrs. Frank Miller, Route No. 4, Green Ridge, Missouri (near here), a respected local lady, said recently in lauding the action of this medical discovery to the Kru-Gon Man who is daily meeting the local public at the McFarland and Robinson Drug Co., 104 West Main Street, this city:

"My health troubles began with a case of faulty elimination which had allowed by body to become filled with impurities," said Mrs. Miller, "I did my best to locate a remedy that would fit my case but all I tried failed me completely. It was eighteen years ago that I was poisoned and since that time my system has never fully recovered. Awful aches and pains developed and settled throughout by body. I bloated so I could not bend to tie my shoes. The pain would strike me in the back of the head, and the muscles in my legs drew something terrible. I would often awaken in the middle of the night and would be forced to sit up the remainder of the night for the pain I was enduring was too severe to get any further rest or sleep. I had a desire to try Kru-Gon as my friends all told me how wonderful they had found it for use in their cases . . . but little expecting such pleasant results."

"Now I actually wonder where all that pain has gone to," continued Mrs. Miller, "This laxative-tonic formula began its work by properly eliminating the poisons from my body, soon those awful aches and pains began to disappear and today I am feeling fine. I am so much better in every way, sleep better, get my rest and cannot help but tell others about such a commendable remedy as Kru-Gon has proved itself to be in my stubborn case."

The Kru-Gon Man is daily meeting the local public at the McFarland and Robinson Drug Co., 104 West Main Street, this city, where he is introducing and explaining the action of this medical discovery.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

SCHOOL DAYS
"GOOD-BYE" DAYS . . .
GOOD BUY DAYS
Off to school . . . in a brand-new suit and shoes . . . the pencil case he begged for held tightly in one hand. Trying to hide the uncertainty and fear of his first day at school.
That brand-new suit, those shoes—where did you buy them? Where did you buy the new school dresses for your suddenly long-legged little girl? Where did you get the trunk that will soon pack your eldest off to college?
You've learned in your own school of experience to study the advertisements before you buy. You planned your purchasing with an eye to sturdy quality at reasonable prices. Reading advertisements has helped you find what you wanted—has helped you save your time, your energy, your money.
